

TRAVEL ALERT – ZIKA VIRUS

Guatemala, along with most of Latin and South America, is currently a country with active Zika transmission. Everyone considering joining one of our trips to Guatemala should review the most current information provided by the Center for Disease Control regarding the Zika virus - <http://www.cdc.gov/zika/>.

Due to the risks to babies in the womb, World Help advises anyone (male or female) who is trying to conceive or already pregnant to refrain from traveling to Guatemala for the time being. World Help has also temporarily suspended from travel to Guatemala any male and female staff who fall in this category.

In addition, our partner in Guatemala, Hope of Life International, now requires a special waiver to be signed by all trip participants prior to their arrival into Guatemala (see second page for reference).

Thank you,

I _____ fully understand that my participation in traveling to Hope of Life International will be completely and absolutely at my own risk and peril during the Zika Virus epidemic.

I completely absolve any company, agent, employee, supplier or sponsor associated with Hope of Life International of any and all legal, moral, or financial responsibility of any eventuality, but not limited to personal injury, death, and/or loss of or damage to personal possessions. I will also never make any type of claim, financial or otherwise, on Hope of Life International or any of their corporate sponsors.

Hope of Life International does not recommend that pregnant women or potentially pregnant women travel at this time. As I am at my own risk I am not obligated to follow the recommendations of Hope of Life International staff-however I also acknowledge that it is in my best interest to do so. I understand the information presented by the staff as preparation for the upcoming trip.

I have read, understand, and irrevocably accept these conditions.
